

Randolph Silliman Bourne - Untimely Papers	LibriVox  NO RIGHTS RESERVED Untimely Papers by Randolph Silliman Bourne (1886 - 1918) This is a posthumous collection of essays by Randolph Bourne. Many originally appeared in the journal "The Seven Arts", before the controversial end to its run. Also included is the unfinished manuscript of "The State", the book Bourne worked on until his tragic death in December, 1918, at the hands of the Spanish flu pandemic. In the words of the book's editor, poet James Oppenheim, "We have nothing else like this book in America. It is the only living record of the suppressed minority, and is, as so often the case, the prophecy of that minority's final triumph." Read by Ben Adams 10 files, 5:05:51 Proof Listener: Larry Wilson Cover: Bart de Leeuw Meta-Coordinator/Cataloging: Bev J Stevens <hr/> For more information, or to volunteer, please visit: librivox.org. All LibriVox productions are in the public domain.	Randolph Silliman Bourne - Untimely Papers
--	--	--